The purpose of this site is evolving, while it originally started to provide URGENTLY needed emergency travel information, I am now realizing that the everyday annoyances and aggravations caused by travel need a voice. While a portion of this site will still be dedicated to the person in a travel emergency, I also will give a forum to people who want to rant about a crazy security person in Newark or a wacky steward on a flight from Siem Reap to Ho Chi Minh City. Whatever you like.
